

GET ETZ tutorial

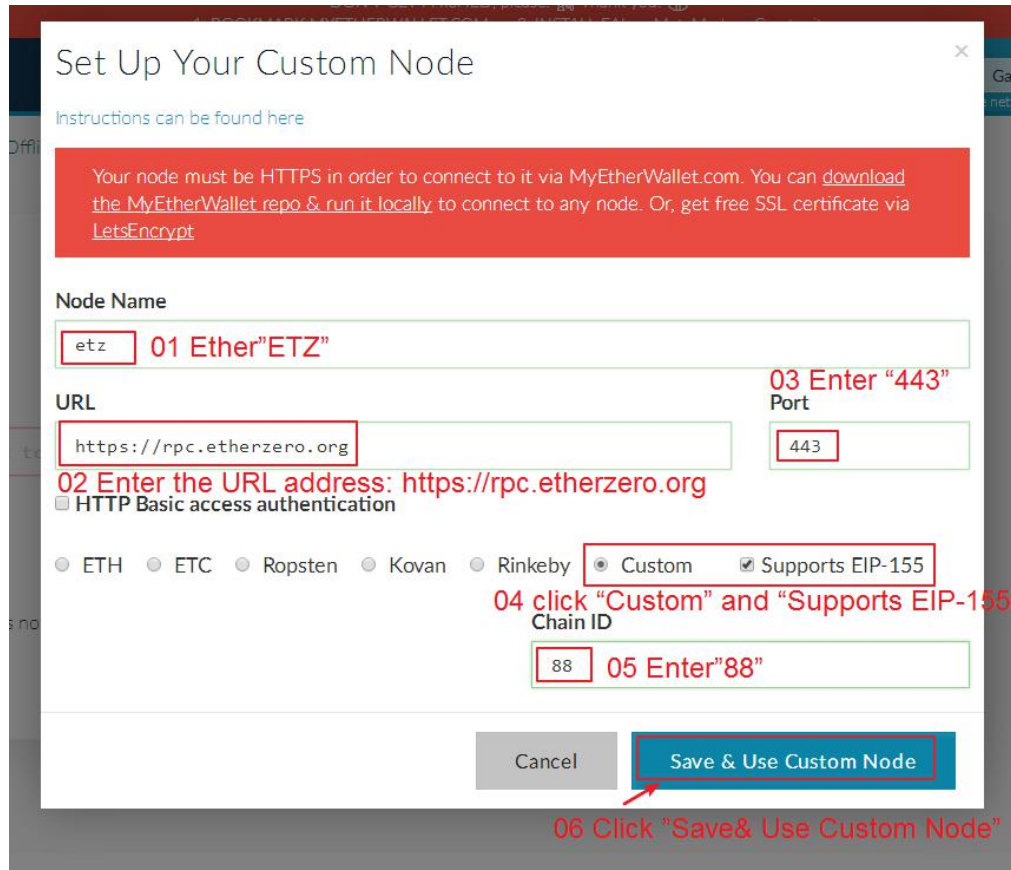

Tips: It is recommended that you should transfer all your ETH balance to your another account first, so as to prevent the private key from leaking in the process of receiving the EtherZero, resulting in the loss of capital.

Steps are as follows:

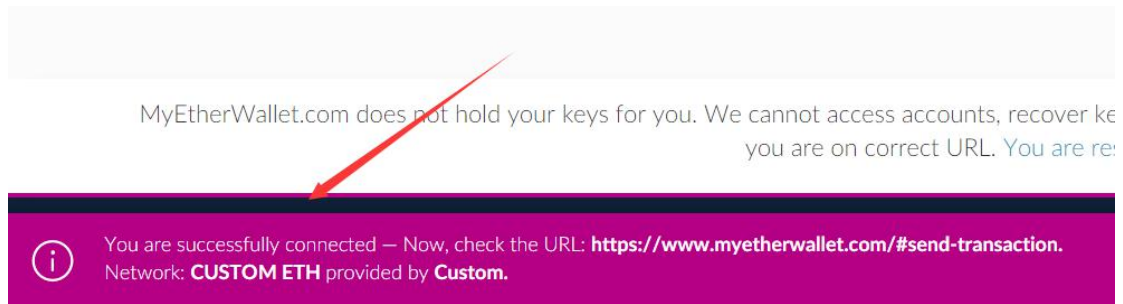

01. Open the website: <https://www.myetherwallet.com>, click "Network ETH(MyEtherWallet)", then click "Add Custom Network/Node".

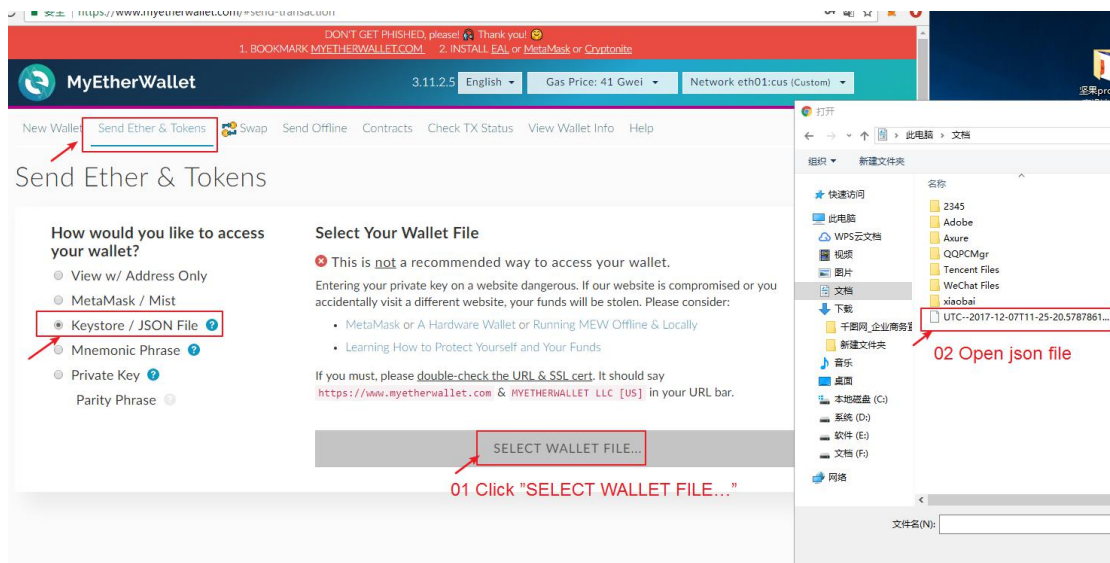

02. Set Up Your Custom Node , fill all blank as follows, the URL in the step 02 is: <https://rpc.etherzero.org>

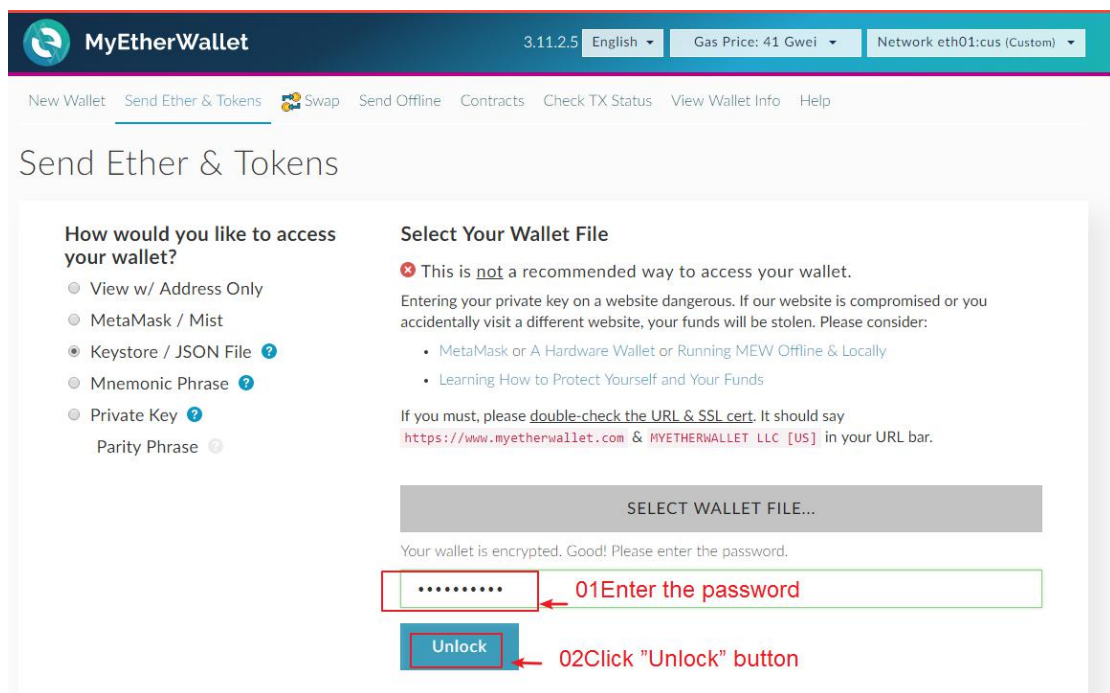

03. The following interface statement appears, indicating that the node was created successfully.

04. Open json file.

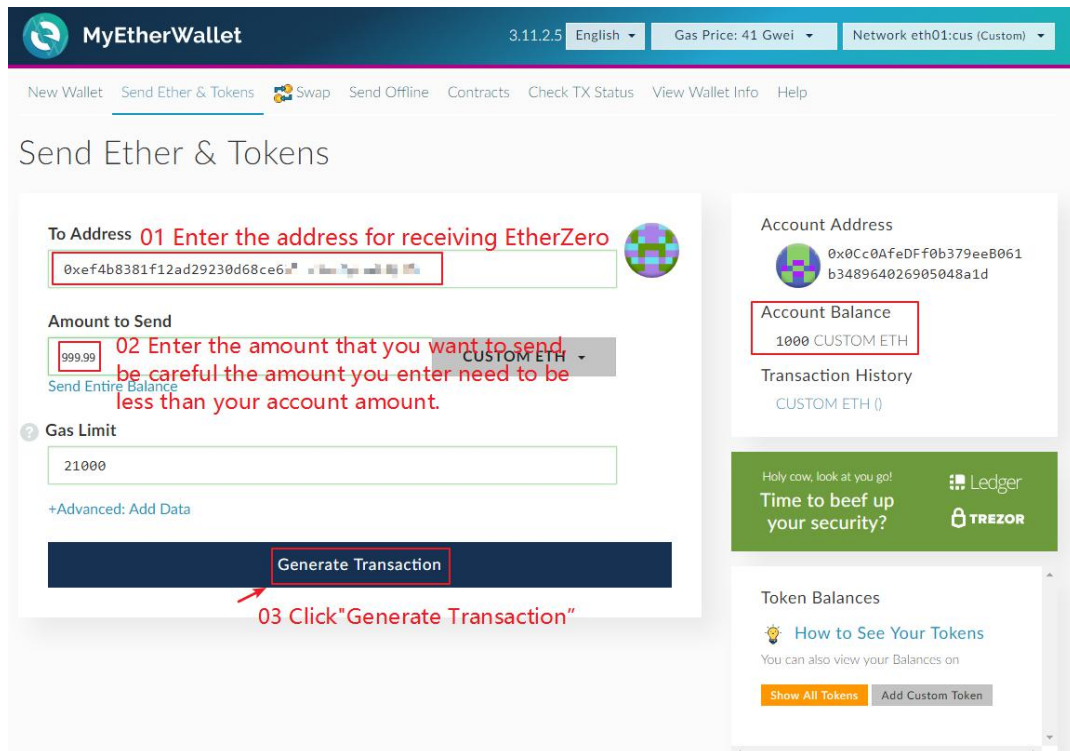

05. Unlock the wallet.

06.The following interface statement appears, indicating that the unlock is successful.

07.Enter the EtherZero wallet address and the amount you want to receive.Note: It is official stipulated that the wallet needs to be set aside 0.01 ETZ and cannot be withdrawn.

08.Submit the Generate Traction data.

09. Continue to make the transaction.

Your TX has been broadcast to the network. This does not mean it has been mined & sent. During times of extreme volume, it may take 3+ hours to send. 1) Check your TX below. 2) If it is pending for hours or disappears, use the Check TX Status Page to replace. 3) Use ETH Gas Station to see what gas price is optimal. 4) Save your TX Hash in case you need it later:

11. Open the website explorer.etherzero.org, check whether you received ETZ successfully.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the address bar containing the URL `explorer.etherzero.org/tx/0x40c98ee9ea6b9523f78f8f5d22811e408f878e157234466e5e...`. The page header includes the EtherZero logo and the text "BlockChain Explorer". A search bar on the right contains the transaction hash `3f878e157234466e5e85e...` and is accompanied by the instruction "02 Enter your TX Hash and search". The main content area displays a table of transaction details:
